THE STORY BEHIND CAPITAL QUALITY NURSERY PRODUCTS

27 years ago Eugene and Charles Armstrong opened Capital Nursery on an eleven acre site at 4700 Freeport Boulevard. The original garden shop was located where the Bank of America's Freeport branch now stands.

Back in 1936 when the Armstrong brothers founded Capital Nursery it sat in virtually open fields. However, they believed in the potential growth of the area and of Sacramento, and placed their credence in a policy of selling only quality nursery stock, and of giving their customers the finest service and gardening advice possible. Capital Nursery today is proof that the Armstrong brothers' vision and endeavor was completely justified, and it is known throughout the nation as one of the outstanding nurseries anywhere in the country.

You are cordially invited to tour the growing area and greenhouses, as well as the retail area. Capital Nursery grows a high percentage of their nursery stock, buys the rest of it from the leading quality wholesale nurseries in the western area. You'll find that Capital Nursery materials will make your gardening a thoroughly rewarding avocation.
